Motel site dangers due to vandalism

'MATTER OF TIME BEFORE SOMEONE HAS A BAD ACCIDENT' SAYS NEIGHBOUR

Anders Larsson

anders@viewnews.co.uk

THE former Seaton Heights Motel site has been smashed up so badly that it has become "potentially very dangerous", police say.

Plans to build an upmarket hotel, holiday homes, a restaurant and spa have ground to a halt, leaving the site open for vandals.

Lyme Bay Leisure, the company behind the development, says it is in talks with East Devon District Council to make the scheme financially viable.

But, in the meantime, the site has become a popular hangout for groups of youths.

Police have received complaints, and Neighbourhood Beat Manager PC Richard Jenkins said: "Seaton Heights has been empty for some time and is now in a very poor state.

"Vandalism has taken place over that time, with graffiti and doors and windows smashed to such an extent that the site is potentially very dangerous.

"Police are reminding youths and their parents that trespassing on the site may result in serious injury or indeed criminal or civil prosecutions."

■ BIG PROMISES: A sign on the fence of the derelict Seaton Heights Motel pictures holiday homes and an hotel but developers Lyme Bay Leisure are still in talks with East Devon District Council over making the plans financially viable van & Camping Site proprietor Tim Salter said: "Three to four times over Christmas we noticed kids up there.

"We called the police because they were chucking stuff into our field.

"The sports hall has a main gym and a balcony, I used to go there as a kid.

"It sounded like something big had been pushed from the balcony - we heard a big bang over Christmas.

"It is only a matter time before someone has a bad accident."

Lyme Bay Leisure announced in early March last year that contractors had been hired and that the first phase of work was about to start.

But people in the area say there has been no visible activity on the site for a very long time.

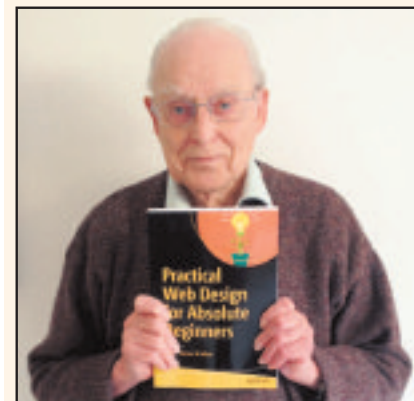

Lyme Bay Leisure chairman David Sullivan confirmed no work is taking place on the site and that he visited recently after reports of intrusions.

He did not elaborate on the reason for the setback, but said: "We have been having further discussions with East Devon District Council, endeavouring to make the scheme commercially viable so it can move forward."

He added that that the company plans to issue more information, including a start date, in late February.

Seaton Town Council was to discuss the concerns raised as Pulman's View From Seaton & Colyton went to press on Monday evening.

HEALTH MATTERS

New 24-hour phone service to help expectant mothers

A NEW 24-hour maternity triage service is set to launch at the Royal Devon & Exeter Hospital, which will give expectant mums direct access to support from qualified midwives if they have concerns about their pregnancy.

The service which opened this week, includes a new triage team of experienced midwives, a unit within the Ante/Postnatal Ward and a dedicated 24-hour phone number to call for help and guidance.

The service will ensure mums-to-be receive consistent and timely advice over the phone from a midwife who can decide whether they need to come in to the unit for further assessment. The phone number can also be used by GPs and community midwives to refer patients to the RD&E for further examination.

In an emergency, patients should always dial 999 in the first instance.

The new set up marks a change from the current service provision, where women who require a review are seen either on the Fetal and Maternal Assessment Unit (FMAU) or on the Labour Ward.

It is hoped that the new triage service will provide a simpler and more efficient service to patients and reduce unnecessary admissions to the hospital by ensuring women are accessing the right maternity service for their needs.

Jo Bassett, Senior Midwife at the Royal Devon & Exeter NHS Foundation Trust said: "We are really pleased to be able to offer this new service. We feel that by offering consistent advice via one telephone line will improve the information given and subsequent care that women will be seen in the right location by the most appropriate person and this fits in with the trust agenda to ensure seamless working across services."

The new team will be made up of midwives who currently work in FMAU outpatients and the wider maternity service. The assessment area will utilise available space on the Ante/Postnatal ward in the Centre for Women's Health.

Patients, GPs or community midwives wishing to contact the maternity service should phone 01392 406616.

Schools miss out on £100,000 funding

EAST Devon MP Sir Hugo Swire has urged his own Government to "go back to the drawing board and look again at the national funding formula" after it was revealed that Devon Schools are set to lose out on more than £100,000 worth of funding.

The Department for Education recently launched a new funding formula, which will see 10,000 schools gaining money and a similar number losing.

The DfE are saying the 'crucial' reforms will tackle the 'historical postcode lottery' in school funding and that funding every child fairly and according to their specific needs 'sits at the heart of the government's pledge to build a country that works for everyone, not just the privileged few.'

The King's School in Ottery St Mary announced last week that if the government didn't rethink the funding the cost-saving measure would have 'a lasting and negative impact' on children's education.

Schools in Devon have been underfunded compared to the national average for decades and Sir Hugo Swire secured a Westminster Hall debate on education funding in Devon last week, where MPs from across the county joined together to discuss the matter.

During the debate Sir Hugo said: "What I am saying is that, within the spending envelope that the government have set out, we want fairness. I believe that all members in this chamber this morning, across the party divide, would agree that, for too long Devon, as a county, has lost out in terms of educational funding. We have waited and waited and waited for the new review of the situation, in the expectation that finally that will be recognised and our children, our teachers and the other staff in education will receive a fair and properly funded settlement.

"On the face of it, I have to say to the Minister that that does not appear to be the position we are in. I say to him gently, as south-west MPs come together perhaps more regularly than we have in the past, that it was the south west that delivered a majority for this government in 2015. It is the south west that often considers itself to be an overlooked part of the country in terms of spend and infrastructure. It is the south west and south west MPs who, together, will not put up with being overlooked any more. We have come together this morning [January 19th] to say, 'Let's look again at the review, let's get it right and let's get a fair deal for Devon.'"

Hugo Swire

Rise in Devon crime due to more victims coming forward

RECORDED crime in the Devon and Cornwall Police area rose by almost six per cent in 2016 compared to 2015.

There were 81,949 recorded crimes for 2016 compared to 77,465 in 2015, a rise of 4,484 crimes or 5.8 per cent.

Deputy Chief Constable Paul Netherton said: "We have one of the highest levels of public confidence of any force across the country, and this means that people feel supported and confident that we will take their crime seriously.

"The upshot of this confidence from our public, is that we will see a rise in the reporting of certain crime types.

"We have worked hard as a force to improve our response in a number of key crime areas such as rape, sexual offences, modern slavery and domestic violence.

"In recent years we have seen a huge rise in both current and historic reporting in these areas, and I am encouraged that victims are finding the courage to come forward and reach out to us knowing that that they will be supported.

"No victim should suffer in silence, and Devon and Cornwall Police will continue to work hard to support these people and to give a voice to each and every one of them, regardless if this sees a rise in our crime figures."

The Deputy Chief Constable also explained that new legislation had played a part in the increase of reported crime.

He said: "There has also been a number of new laws introduced which will see a rise in crime figures for all forces across the country, not just in Devon and Cornwall.

"An example of this is the introduction of the Malicious Communications Act, which is responsible for just under half of the increase in total recorded crime in 2016 in Devon and Cornwall."

"Examples of new crimes that fall

DEPUTY Chief Constable Paul Netherton – encouraged that more victims are coming forward to report crime within this act include abusive and threatening messages sent via social media, phone calls that the victim perceives as threatening in their nature, and even an abusive note left on the windshield of a car for parking in-front of someone's house."

He concluded by praising his workforce by saying: "I am confident that not only are my staff and officers working hard to protect and serve the public of Devon and Cornwall, but that this part of the UK continues to remain a safe place to live, work, and visit, and that the likelihood of becoming a victim of crime is still very low."

Driver dies in crash near Branscombe

ONE man died and another was airlifted to hospital after a two-car collision on the A3052 at Branscombe last Friday evening.

Emergency services were called at about 6.15pm on January 20th.

The collision took place near the Three Horse-shoes junction, and a police spokesperson said: "A 77-year-old man driving a blue Honda Jazz died after being in collision with a red Renault."

"The driver of the Clio, a man in his 50s from Devon, was airlifted to Derriford Hospital in Plymouth with serious chest and leg injuries.

"The deceased driver was from West Yorkshire.

"Police collision investigators attended the scene and carried out a forensic investigation.

"The road was closed for approximately three and a half hours."

Anyone who witnessed the incident, or events leading up to it, is asked to contact police by emailing 101@dc.police.uk or phoning 101, quoting log 628 of 20 January 2017.

Better children's services in Somerset after review

CHANGES have led to tangible improvements by Somerset County Council's (SCC) Children's Services.

In a letter to SCC leader Councillor John Osman, the Minister of State for Vulnerable Children and Families, Edward Timpson MP, referred to an independent review which found more manageable caseloads, a more stable workforce and better partnership working.

Mr Timpson wrote: "These changes have led to tangible improvements in social work practice, resulting in children and families receiving a considerably better service."

Councillor Frances Nicholson, SCC Cabinet member for Children and Families, was very pleased and said: "This feedback is very welcome. We are anything but complacent and there is still a long way to go and much work to do.

"But this confirms that we are moving forward as result of the hard work of our staff and partners.

Councillor Osman added: "Safeguarding vulnerable children is everyone's responsibility and it's pleasing to see that the minister's letter includes reference to better partnership working."

In March 2015 the council's Children's Services were judged by Ofsted to be inadequate for the second consecutive time. A team from Essex County Council has been working with Somerset County Council since then to support its work.

Amie has first book published after six years in the making

■ STRANGE EMOTIONS: Amie takes a breather from work in Seaton

AXMINSTER resident Amie Spurgeon only needed three weeks and two attempts to find a publisher for her debut novel, 'Strange Emotions'.

Ms Spurgeon, who is the owner of hairdressers Luxy Locks in Seaton, gave the synopsis by saying: "The book is about a strong character named Chloe. All is not what it seems and the more Chloe discovers, the more it is uncovered."

"When meeting others like herself, it begins to become clearer that being her true self is dangerous with enemies close by, and soon too close to home. Chloe is then faced with a difficult choice between love and loyalty."

Amie started writing the book just over six years ago when living on her own in a studio flat in Didcot, Oxfordshire.

She explained: "I was alone most nights and couldn't afford a social life. I was inspired by my own feelings, how they affect us and our character."

"With all the time alone after work at home, creating a character like Chloe helped me and my anxiety. A relative of mine used to read sections of the story as I was writing to help encourage me to keep going."

Ms Spurgeon struggled through school with dyslexia and was terrified of reading out loud in class.

However, this did not affect her love of reading and writing, and eventually she built up the confidence to put pen to paper and write her first novel.

She said: "I thought that having a learning difficulty, it would be impossible to write a book."

"I was always interested in writing, but never really had the time or confidence."

Ms Spurgeon, a former student of the Woodroffe School in Lyme Regis, added: "I only started reading in my late teens and tend to read romance novels. Nicholas Sparks is my favourite."

After school, Amie moved around a lot and also opened her own business when writing, hence the six years to finish the book.

But once she was finished, she only needed three weeks to find a publisher.

Ms Spurgeon is now working on a follow-up book, and said: "I hope to inspire people with learning difficulties to write and read."

'Strange Emotions', published by Austin Macauley, is available from Amazon and bookshops.

Dolphin hosts annual bake-off

NIGEL Groves triumphed in the fifth Beer Annual Bake-Off, held just before New Year at The Dolphin Hotel.

There were "oohs" and "aahs" in the crowded bar as the bakers, one by one, put forward their imaginative offerings.

The cakes must be at least two tiers tall, have a Beer theme and have a seagull somewhere on it.

The competition attracted a record seven creations and competition founder Andy Williams said: "The standard of the competition is so wonderfully high for something that started as a bit of a laugh. We never thought it would get this big."

"For the first time ever, to go alongside the hand-carved trophy, was a £50 Woozies Deli voucher."

Winner Nigel, who created a Mariners Hall theme cake, commented: "I was very surprised and pleased to win this year. It's only the second time I have decorated a cake, the first time was last year's post box when I came third."

Cakes ranged from one called 'Peco Drama', a train with a splatted seagull, to the Beer Fish Shop complete with a seagull eating chips on the roof, the Beer scout campsite and Mariners

Hall complete with Christmas lights.

The judge, again with the very hard job of tasting all the cakes and judging their appearance, was Michael West.

Last year's winner Jane West (no relation to Michael) presented Mr Groves with his prize for his Mariners Hall theme cake.

Tenth anniversary of Napoli disaster

TEN years have passed since Branscombe and the stricken MSC Napoli attracted worldwide attention.

The drama began on January 18th, 2007, when the 62,000 tonne container ship, en route from Antwerp to Durban, ran into a violent storm off Brittany and suffered catastrophic damage to its hull.

All 26 crew members were airlifted to safety, but northerly winds made it impossible for the vessel to shelter along the French coast.

She was towed to sheltered waters off Branscombe, arriving in the morning of January 20th.

The decision to deliberately beach the stricken ship off East Devon was taken by the Secretary of State's Representative for Maritime Salvage and Intervention (SOSREP).

■ STRICKEN: MSC Napoli
off Branscombe in 2007

Coastguard Agency

An inquiry later concluded it was the correct decision as it almost certainly averted a "pollution catastrophe" in the Channel.

Branscombe became the place to go to for sight-seers and people with other intentions.

Containers lost from the deck washed ashore and attracted hordes of people from all over the UK intent on scavenging cargo.

Boxes of shampoo, wine barrels and even BMW motorcycles, still in their packing crates, were taken off the beach by an army of modern day 'wreckers'.

The disruption and disturbance to Branscombe was made worse by narrow country lanes that soon became clogged with vehicles.

Media interest reached fever pitch and journalists' interest switched from potential pollution by oil to the ransacking of cargo.

The chairman of the multi-agency Environment Group, Julian Wardlaw from the Environment Agency, did 11 media interviews in two hours, including two in French.

By the summer of 2007 it was decided to try to refloat the Napoli.

Although it was successfully refloated, the vessel was too badly damaged to be towed so it was dismantled instead, using explosives to separate the bow section from the stern.

The bow section was towed to Harland and Wolff Shipyard in Belfast for final dismantling while the stern was left at Branscombe to be dismantled in situ.

The wreck was battered by winter storms in 2008, but was eventually cut up and taken by barge to Rotterdam.

Devon County Council helped fund a special report that formed the basis for action and lobbying to ensure local authorities were better placed to deal with any future shipping incidents.

Current Devon County Council leader John Hart said: "On the 10th anniversary, it is also a time to remember the many local volunteers who, alongside the local councils and agencies, worked hard to return this iconic stretch of coastline back to its former beauty for the enjoyment of everyone."

Fight the flu

HEALTH experts in Devon are urging people to stock up their medicine cabinets and get advice from their local pharmacist to protect themselves as the flu season gets underway.

Free flu vaccinations are offered to vulnerable groups including the elderly, those with conditions such as heart or respiratory problems, pregnant women, carers and children aged two, three, four and in school years 1, 2 and 3.

Anyone who is eligible who hasn't had their vaccination is urged to get it – contact your GP to find out more.

A spokesperson for NEW Devon CCG said: "Flu occurs every year, usually in winter. It's highly infectious, with symptoms that come on very quickly. The most common ones are: fever, chills, headache, aches and pains in the joints and muscles, and extreme tiredness. You can help prevent the spread of the virus by covering your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze, and wash your hands with soap frequently to reduce the risk of picking up the virus. At the first sign of illness, act quickly and ask your local pharmacist for advice."

Rory Thompson, pharmacist at Lloyds Pharmacy said: "You don't need an appointment to ask a pharmacist for advice and many have private consulting rooms, designed to make it easier for people to speak to us."

"We are trained to give advice and treatment for flu as well as a wide range of minor ailments and illnesses such as coughs and colds, fever, sore throat, blocked nose, teething pain, earache and more."

"Using your pharmacy frees up GP time and leaves hospital A&E departments to deal with life-threatening emergencies."

Rachel, 80, takes to the skies

by Anders Larsson
anders@viewnews.co.uk

A RETIRED doctor from Hawkchurch, near Axminster, marked her 80th birthday by skydiving in aid of Devon Air Ambulance Trust.

Dr Rachel Mackenzie admitted to being "scared stiff" at first, but quickly changed her mind.

She turned 80 on January 3rd and decided to do "something fun" for her birthday.

Her skydive couldn't take place on her birthday, so she jumped instead on January 14th at Dunkeswell, witnessed by a large group of Hawkchurch residents.

Skydives are weather-sensitive, and speaking to Pulman's Weekly News only a few days before, she said: "My only worry is that it might not happen, but I'm not frightened about the jump."

However, the weather saw perfect jumping conditions, and the skydive went ahead as planned.

Dr Mackenzie summed up by saying that the view was stunning, and added: "I did it and it was most exciting, but I was scared stiff at the beginning when I got in the plane and we got higher and higher."

Dr Mackenzie is very grateful to villagers for helping to promote her fundraising.

Friends, family, The Old Inn in Hawkchurch and The Bottle Inn in Marshwood have supported Dr Mackenzie's jump and a total of more than £1,000 had been raised two days after the skydive.

And her choice of charity was easy given her background.

"Being a doctor I am interested in saving lives," she said.

A cheque will be presented at the end of the month.

Anyone wishing to make a donation can send a cheque to: Dr Rachel Mackenzie, The Old Rectory, Hawkchurch, Devon, EX13 5XD.

Dr Mackenzie and her late husband Donald (also a doctor) trained at St Thomas' Hospital in London before joining a mission hospital in the Kalahari Desert.

The couple then relocated to Hartland, Devon, for seven years before travelling through jungles, swamps and deserts doctoring wherever they were needed.

Artwork inspires new logo for ARC

■ LOCAL counselling charity ARC has found a new logo thanks to Axminster-based artist Ricky Romain.

Psychotherapist and ARC founder Catherine Davies got to choose from Mr Romain's extensive collection, and came up with a painting from 2009 named Sometimes It's Too Late For Tenderness.

The new logo will be used in promotional material.

ARC was formed in 2007 and is an independent body but integrated with the NHS mental health structure.

Referrals are made through Axminster Medical Practice.

Big breakfast fundraiser for hall

THE trustees of Chardstock Community Hall hope that hungry people will flock to the hall for the big breakfast and table top sale this coming Sunday, January 29th.

The event starts at 9am and will run until about noon.

Money raised will go towards the upkeep and maintenance of the hall, which is largely dependent on donations, grants and events like this.

A full breakfast is £5, with bacon rolls at £2.50.

Trustee John Cloke said:

"We have had successful big breakfasts in the past and this year have added a table top sale for local societies to be involved and support this fundraising event."

"We hope this will attract new faces and that previous supporters will also return."

Mayor thanks Syria appeal team

AXMINSTER Mayor Paul Hayward has praised the team behind the Sponsor a Doctor in Syria fundraiser.

The appeal, launched in November, exceeded the most optimistic expectations of Axminster Churches Together.

A target of £6,000 was set, but organisers were delighted to break through the £10,000 barrier.

Axminster Churches Together members visited a recent town council meeting, and Mayor Paul Hayward told them: "Thank you for bringing this to fruition, and thank you to the people of Axminster for supporting it."

Costa boost for The Project

■ AXMINSTER-based charity The Project received a £500 cheque when Costa officially opened its branch in the town last week.

The charity, which supports young people with mental health issues, was chosen by Costa for sponsorship.

A cheque for £500 was presented.

Teamwork equals results for students' maths challenge

A GROUP of Year 10 Axe Valley Community College students travelled to Holyrood Academy in Chard for a maths day led by Ben Sparks from the Mathematical Sciences Department at Bath University.

Axe Valley Community College and Holyrood Academy have just extended their partnership until September this year, and the maths day was part of a wider learning collaboration programme.

Mr Sparks led the day of mathematical teamwork challenges where students were encouraged to work together to experience A-level maths and have the opportunity to think deeply about the origin of numbers.

Students were offered an insight into how to approach A-level mathematics problems as well as extensive information on what jobs, salaries and careers the qualification can lead to.

Dave MacDonald of Holyrood Academy said: "This maths enrichment programme presented students with the invaluable opportunity to work in teams with peers from another school and attempt to solve real-world mathematical problems together."

Christmas tree shredding raises money for Scouts

BEER Scouts teamed up with Sid Valley Tree Surgery and former scout Henry Richards for the annual Christmas tree shredding fundraiser.

Leader Nigel Groves led the team removing Christmas trees along Fore Street and from people's homes for a small donation.

Mr Richards, who loved taking part in the tree shredding when he was a scout, jumped at the chance to come back and help out with his employer Sid Valley Tree Surgery.

Scout Darcie said: "I love seeing the trees getting shredded," as the noise of the fundraising could be heard throughout the village as the money came rolling in.

Nigel said: "We could not do our traditional fundraiser, which has now been running for 14 years, without the support of Sid Valley Tree Surgery and former scout Henry.

"This year we raised just over £315.

"A big thank you to everyone who recycled their tree with us. We will be back again in 2018."

Kate gets her fundraising challenge off to tasty start

KATE Vine has made a lip-smacking start to her commitment to raise £3,000 for the charity Action Against Hunger.

The 19-year-old from Beer held a breakfast at the Bay View Guest House & Tea Rooms to launch her fundraising drive towards the total, which is a minimum prerequisite for joining an organised trek up Mount Kilimanjaro at the end of August.

"I had thought £600 would be a good total but the final sum was £1,350, which was fantastic," said Kate.

"We served over 100 breakfasts, raised extra money from a raffle and cake sale plus there were also lots of donations.

"People were so nice and generous and I can't thank them enough.

"I also had great support from Nicky and Grant at Bay View, Colyford Butchers, Fowlers Free Range Eggs, Graham Oliver Meats and Tesco."

Kate first saw publicity for the charity climb up the highest mountain in Africa at Bath University, where she is a second year student studying mathematics.

"I had not heard about the charity before but I did some research and it is a really good one that works in a lot of countries," added Kate.

"It is not only good at providing food for people in the short term but also in developing long-term projects in educating people about growing food, so they have a very good approach."

The trek up Mt Kilimanjaro, which is close to 6,000 metres above sea level, is a daunting physical challenge so Kate is stepping up her fitness programme with extra running and some long walks over the summer holidays.

"I am really excited about the climb," she said.

Town crier plans to make comeback in spring

SEATON town crier David Craner hopes to make his comeback during the Grizzly week-end in March.

Mr Craner has been out of action since last autumn and underwent surgery to remove lung cancer.

Apart from Seaton, Mr Craner also cries for Crewkerne and Beaminster.

His plan is to attend events in these towns from spring, but he has decided not to enter any competitions in 2017 to give himself a rest and aid recovery.

He will, however, host the annual Seaton town crying competition as usual.

Mr Craner said: "It is a long time since I have been out belling and yelling.

"I was diagnosed with lung cancer back in October and have had major surgery to remove a significant portion of my right lung.

"Surgeons are confident that they have removed all of the bad stuff and a good recovery is expected.

"At this stage I don't know how much impact this will have on my ability as town crier but I am hopeful of being able to do the usual during The Grizzly in March."

Mr Craner is still in a bit of pain so has "not dared to try any town cries" since his operation.

He said: "I love what I do and I am passionate about the towns I represent.

"Seaton Town Council has been very supportive, as has the town crying circuit.

We are one big family who tend to support each other.

"Also a big thank you to everyone else who has sent cards and messages.

"The cancer was detected early, so at least I am on the right side of the grass.

"I'll be out belling and yelling as soon as I possibly can."

Crusoe brings young talent to the fore

PANTOMIME is the one art form where it does not matter if there's an occasional gaffe. In fact, it's almost compulsory and adds greatly to the fun of the occasion.

No one would pretend that Axminster Drama Club's production of "Robinson Crusoe - The Pantomime" at the Guildhall last week was word perfect throughout or without the occasional technical problem, especially on the first night when I attended.

But such trivialties count for nothing in the world of pantomime - and Axminster Drama Club can look back on this production as another job well done in a long list of successes.

All the ingredients of a successful panto were there in abundance - colourful costumes, corny jokes, a brilliant set (always the case with ADC), loads of dancing, audience participation and lots of kids enjoying themselves on stage.

Axminster Drama Club has a vibrant youth section - later this year they will be staging Willy Russell's "Blood Brothers" at the Guildhall - and it's a policy which is paying huge dividends.

Down the years numerous would-be performers have been introduced to the local stage with many of them now seasoned members of the cast with a popular following from local theatregoers.

And the great plus of watching pantomimes such as this is that the kids' enjoyment is infectious, their enthusiasm transmitted across the footlights so it's almost impossible for the audience not to join in and share that good-feel factor.

Director Jack Price is pretty much a veteran - in experience, not age - and always gets the best from his charges. This production was no exception.

And 13-year-old Jessica Leat, now an old hand through her family connection - mum and dad are club stalwarts - was surely born to spend her life on the stage.

Not only did she play the role of a fairy with great charm and poise but was also responsible for the choreography, one of the high points of the production, a big ask for one so young.

The title role was

played by Josie Cable, a young lady with a lovely voice and a definite stage presence, featuring strongly in some of the best musical numbers such as "Shut Up and Dance" and "Trouble Maker". Josie is certainly one to watch for the future.

As in all good pantomimes, Robinson got his girl in the end, the leading lady role of "Katie Cook" being taken by another youngster, Kat Hobbs, who gave a delightful portrayal.

It was good to see experienced stage performer Nicky Sweetland back on the local stage instead of hob-nobbing around the West End as my entertainments reporter in London.

As expected, her's was a word-perfect portrayal of the disciplinarian "Captain Thomas" and her very presence must have been an enormous boost for the youngsters around her. Dodgy wig, though!

Leigh Conley was all you expected from the bad guy, "Captain Jack Hawkins", extracting the very most in boos and hisses from the audience.

Andy Blundell made an ideal dame, resplendent as "Cassandra Crusoe" in outlandish costumes and frightening wigs and make-up, and her long-suffering son, "Chris Crusoe" was confidently portrayed by Katie Richards.

The wonderful Caroline Markham never disappoints in pantoland and her comic timing was spot on as usual as the hapless "January Sales", excelling as always during the audience participation interlude when the kids came onto the stage. Caroline is a born comedienne and such an asset to the club.

Playing alongside her as her partner in crime, "Noah The Ropes", was 17-year-old James Windsor who more than held his own in the comic stakes and whose natural exuberance was one of the show's big plusses.

Mike Dowling made the most chilled out "Man Friday" I have ever seen with good support from Heather White as "Ruby Tuesday", his desert island partner, and Tobi Rouse as "Chief".

A rousing finale left the audience in fine spirits - and Axminster Drama Club's reputation very much in tact.

◆ Axminster Drama Club will present Monty Python's "Spamalot" at Axminster Guildhall September 28th-30th 2017.

Colyton web designer publishes third book to help beginners

COLYTON website designer Adrian W. West has produced his third book on web design.

Adrian, a professional freelance web designer for 17 years, had his first book on intermediate level web design published in May 2012. His second book, a manual for producing database driven websites, was published in 2014 and his third covers website design for absolute beginners.

All three books are published by Apress in the USA, a subsidiary of Springer, the biggest publisher of science and technical books in the world.

The new book, Practical Web Design for Absolute Beginners, "provides a superior alternative" to the increasing use of Content Management Systems (CMS) such as WordPress, Joomla, Drupal, Moonfruit, Go Daddy, etc.

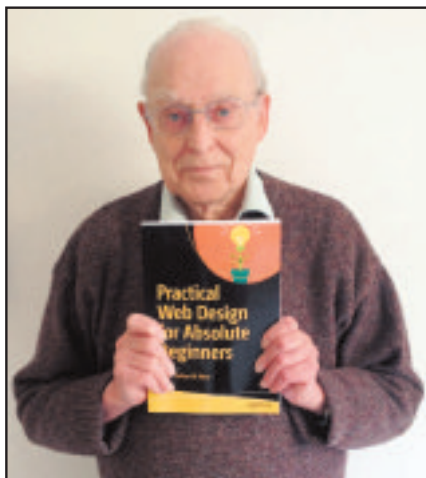

Mr West said: "These children's colouring-book-style programs resulted in millions of dreadful websites produced by amateurs who have no training in design, web-user psychology and search engine optimisation. The aim of this book is to teach the readers those essential skills in addition to teaching them how to use HTML and CSS code."

Adrian says producers promote their CMS programs by implying that HTML and CSS are difficult to learn, but his new book demonstrates that coding is not difficult and it teaches absolute beginners how to produce unique, fast-loading, top-quality websites.

"Understanding HTML and CSS is essential if you wish to take full control of a website's design and maintenance," he added.

The book uses short, easily assimilated steps and avoids a tedious theoretical approach by introducing small amounts of new code in each chapter. Using full colour illustrations, beginners are shown how to produce practical web pages right from the start.

The book provides a wide range of attractive templates for web pages and websites and the reader has a short practical project to complete in almost all the chapters. Readers are guided to produce the templates themselves, and as a result, they will have an intimate knowledge of the template's code giving them complete control over the quality and content of their sites.

Adrian resigned as a chartered engineer to become the UK director of a correspondence school. He has been teaching in one form or another since 1982 and introduced computers into his workplace in 1987, teaching the staff how to use them. For four years, he taught computer skills for undergraduates at a college in Cheshire.

For the last 17 years, Adrian has designed and maintained websites for local and national businesses and charities. These included local manufacturers, shops, B&B accommodation, tourism, estate agents, retirement homes, travel agencies, charities and an American correspondence course college. For a time, he also served as a computer technician and teacher to about 100 people in Colyton.

He provides a free computer-help website at www.colycomputerhelp.co.uk and is co-founder of web design company www.amwebdesign.co.uk

Scottish theme for Memory Cafe meeting

THE Colyton, Colyford & Distrist Memory Cafe started the New Year with a Scottish theme.

The monthly crossword puzzle was full of New Year and Scottish references, while homemade treats to accompany tea included oatmeal crackers topped with venison pâté, Scottish scones and strawberry jam, shortbread and rich fruit cake.

Members and volunteers were entertained by the Sidmouth Scottish Dance Group, dressed in traditional Scottish garments. They performed reels, sets and circle dances, and soon had the group clapping and foot-tapping along to the bouncy jigs.

The afternoon finished with the cafe's traditional sing-a-long, this month including a selection of Scottish songs.

The next meeting of the cafe will be held on Wednesday, February 1st from 2pm until 4pm at the St John Hall, Colyton, and is open to all those suffering memory loss or the early stages of dementia, and their family or carers.

Immediately prior to the cafe, the group will hold its annual general meeting, starting at 1.15pm and all are welcome.

If you, or a friend or loved one is experiencing short-term memory loss, or has recently been diagnosed with early dementia, you will be offered a friendly welcome, tea and cake and an afternoon of fun and laughter.

Where will extra council precept money be spent?

■ AS a former mayor and Seaton town councillor I read with interest your front page article saying our precept is set to rise by about £80,000 from April.

However, nowhere in the article does it say what this large increase is to be spent on.

Perhaps the mayor, Councillor Marcus Hartnell, or finance committee chairman Councillor Heather San-ham could enlighten me and the rest of the Seaton ratepayers.

Councillor Hartnell refers to the annual floral displays and festive lighting but both of these are always in the budget.

As someone who firmly believes in open local government and worked hard during my time as a councillor to make Seaton Town Council as transparent as possible, I would ask that a breakdown of this increase be supplied by one of the aforementioned councillors as a matter of courtesy to the ratepayers they represent.

Where's the detail?

■ THE NEW Devon CCG consultation has been designed to ask the public their views on which community hospital beds should remain and consequently which should close in East Devon.

The need to reduce the number of community hospital beds is driven by the need to save money.

In the consultation document there is no explanation as to why Devon is so heavily overspent and therefore needs to save so much money.

Indeed, they are one of the three most overspent CCGs in the country.

Without knowing the reason why you are in a poor financial situation it is difficult to expect the public to advise on where or even if cuts should be made.

The public and indeed the patients are being treated like fools by the CCG, especially as the CCG are unable to give clear evidence of how their new care plan of treating more patients in their homes is going to provide as good medical care as they have been used to.

If there is an area where this new care plan is so successful we need to hear about it. If more integration between various services is going to be a cornerstone of better, more efficient practice, again let us see examples of where this has been successful.

Talking about better integration of services is not enough.

We need to see examples where it is happening successfully. Why does the Devon CCG treat its public so poorly? Neighbouring CCGs like Somerset and Dorset are not closing community beds but they are talking about precisely how the New Model of Care (treating more patients in their homes) is going to happen. We do not get that level of detail.

Our CCG will have to work very hard to persuade us that they have indeed been consulting with the public and not just telling us why they are going to implement their preferred plan.

DR JAMES VANN

Thank you to all those who helped

■ I AM writing to express my enormous gratitude to the call handler nurse and doctor who responded with promptness, kindness and reassurance when I called 111 on New Year's Day.

Although I only requested a telephone consultation, Dr Daniels (who had seen me on Thursday, December 29th) called and gave me a further prescription.

Thank you also to three of my Sidmouth Home Safeguard friends, Sally, Debbie and Cynthia, who could not have done more on this occasion. I feel greatly blessed by the care of everyone and thank them from the bottom of my heart. Who could ask for more.

DAPHNE YOUNG,
Seaton

Try rephrasing the question

Copy of letter to Rebecca Harriott, Chief Officer of the Clinical Commissioning Group

■ THIS is my second letter on the public consultation about bed closures in Devon.

I think your base argument is founded on a false premise. You state that the vast majority of people would prefer to be cared for at home. Of course, if you ask anyone, young or old, if they would prefer to be looked after at home or in hospital if they were unwell, virtually everyone would answer 'at home'. If you rephrased your question the answer might be very different.

How about this: 'If you were ill, would you prefer to have 24-hour care in hospital or have specialist care workers coming to your home several times each day for 15 minutes at a time, and not at all at night?' It depends, quite obviously, on how ill a person is.

A nurse can oversee multiple patients in a hospital ward; if they are having to go home to home it is one-at-a-time with travelling in-between.

Another question which I am sure you are asking: 'If you were ill and had to be in hospital, would you prefer to be in one in your home town, or one miles away from where you live?'

I await your response with interest.

OVER the past 24 years The Society For Storytelling has achieved much in its mission for the promotion of the oral tradition of storytelling, the very first way of communicating life experiences and the creative imagination.

2017 marks the 17th year of its Annual National Storytelling Week.

28th January-4th February

National Storytelling Week takes place in storytelling clubs, theatres, museums, schools, hospitals, spoken word venues, and care homes (where this event has been steadily growing each year!) Where the events take place, the web of stories will be spun with sufficient magic between the breathe of the teller and the ear of the listener.

National Storytelling Week is celebrated by all ages. Folk tales, fairy lore, figments, phantoms, dragons, serpents, storms at sea. A good teller will conjure intriguingly.

So as with every year this far we begin at the beginning. There was the storyteller....Once upon a time.... There will be many exciting events taking place in the run up to the BIG WEEK itself so please check it out on the Society for storytelling website: www.sfs.org.uk/national-storytelling-week.

First and foremost is our thanks to all who take part in The Society for Storytelling's Annual National Storytelling Week every year. Thanks must go to the Kevin, Pippa, Martin and Ali of SFS Admin who collected and disseminated all the information coming at them about events, venues, times and prices. Without them and their sterling work little or none of the many entertaining hours spent by audiences would have been known about.

To tellers all who have given time and made with their tale a timeless memory, our grateful thanks for the gift given - and to those who heard and listened and walked away carrying that tale with them, my hopes go out too to share the tale they heard.

The Society for Storytelling can be contacted all year round, look to the venues and events.

Remember everyone has at least one story to tell. It exists in the very air around you - Your story is the one you know best and as it is only the beginning the stories you will tell began...Once upon a time.

National Storytelling Week 2017 will run from midnight on the morning of Saturday January 28th to midnight on the evening of Saturday February 4th 2017. HOWEVER Don't forget too that the four day prior to and the four days after those dates, they are part are still part of the festival of storytelling too. They are equally important as they are its fringes or preferably its "Coat Tales".

SHORT STORY COMPETITION!

Please send in your short stories up to 500 words to: FAO Jenna, Unit 3 St Michael's Business Centre, Lyme Regis, Dorset DT7 3DB or by email: jenna@viewnews.co.uk by Monday 6th February for your chance to win!

Owl and Pyramid are donating the top prize of a £15 voucher to spend in shop, and a further two winners will have their stories published on our website - www.viewnews.co.uk

Hello! We are Nibbles and William

Nibbles and William are brother and sister and as you can see are very close to one another so are looking for a home together. They are very sweet cats and just want someone to love them! They have come from a home with lots of other cats so would be happy living with other cats in their new home. They have also lived with children aged 10 years and over, but would probably be ok to live with younger children used to cats. They are litter trained and not destructive in the home.

Hi! I'm Fern!

Fern is 7 years old and has been at Ferne for over 5 months now and really needs a new home. The staff at Ferne don't understand why no one seems to want her as she is a really sweet pretty cat. She would prefer to be the only pet in the home and is nervous of children so would only be happy in a quiet home. She really loves being outside so would prefer a rural home. She loves a fuss and absolutely loves people!

I am Twist!

Twist is a 5 year old female Lurcher. She is a lovely dog who is very unsettled at the moment as she has been passed around a lot lately through no fault of her own! She is really affectionate and is good with others dogs and has also lived with children of 3 years of age, but she will chase cats. She has been kept in a kennel outside so would now love to be part of a family who can give her the home comforts she so desperately misses.

She is happiest to live in a home without any children, and where she can have a fuss on my terms.

Hi! I'm Sabrina!

Sabrina is about 5 years old and is a lovely cat that was abandoned on the sanctuary! She is very affectionate and does like to be made a fuss of and is now looking for a second chance in finding a new loving home where she can spend the rest of her life. She can be quite timid initially but she really loves people once she gets to know them!! She is happy to live with quiet cats, but she hasn't met any children or dogs yet. ## Hey! I'm Tina!

Tina is a typical confident Patterdale Terrier. She is about 3 years old and is constantly on the go! She is a real sweetie with loads of energy and is looking for an owner who has time to give her the attention she misses as she was sadly abandoned by her previous owner. She is very friendly and loves human attention and is fine with other dogs off the lead but does get frustrated when on the lead. She really needs a new home without children or cats, and an owner she can share her life with.

I'm Midnight!

Midnight is about 6 years old; he is a really sweet cat who was brought into Ferne as a stray so is now looking for his second chance at a forever home. He is litter trained and not destructive in the cattery and he is fine with the cats that he shares his run with, but he isn't keen on dogs! ## Hi, I'm Bracken!

Bracken is an 8 year old female neutered Patterdale terrier. She is a real sweetie with loads of energy and has been at Ferne for over 6 months now so is desperate for a new home with an owner who can give her lots of time and attention as she loves human company. She was sadly abandoned by her previous owner so the staff at Ferne don't know anything about her past but they do know that she is really good with adults, but would not be suited to living in a home with children. She is not very keen on other dogs and she will chase cats, she would be more suited to a home in the countryside with a secure garden to play in and an owner she can share the rest of her life with.

Hello, my name is Marley!

Marley is a 1 year old Male neutered Border collie. He is a really sweet young dog who has sadly ended up at Ferne Animal Sanctuary through no fault of his own and he is now looking for an active, outdoors life. As he is so energetic, he is going to require a good amount of daily exercise – both physical and mental, to prevent him getting bored. He can be a little unsure of unfamiliar people and it will take time for him to form a relationship with his new owner, but once he does he is very loyal. He is fine with other dogs and would be best suited to an active adult only, dog experienced household. He would love to have a new home in the countryside with a large back garden that he can run around in.

Award-winning pianist to give Concerts in the West performance

Diary Dates

AWARD-WINNING pianist Matthew Drinkwater is to launch the 2017 concert season for the distinguished West Country arts charity Concerts in the West, including a performance at Ilminster Arts Centre.

Winner of the Chappell Medal - the Royal College of Music's most sought after prize for piano - as well as numerous other top class musical awards, Matthew is a passionate supporter of 18th and 19th Century music for piano, especially the works of Haydn, Beethoven, Schumann, Schubert and Brahms.

He has also explored the contemporary music scene and between 2007 and 2008 was a member of Cardiff's Millennium Ensemble, where he played works by Thomas Adès and Michael Berkeley. Matthew is a keen chamber musician and as a member of the Poznansky Trio he performs with cellists Sebastian Poznansky and Willemijn Knödler and violinist Julia Loucks. He recently performed Brahms and Ravel with violinist Jonathan Davies.

Matthew has played at many of the top classical music venues, including St Martin in the Fields, St Barnabas, St John Smith's Square, St Peters in Belsize Park, St Lukes in Hampstead, as well as festivals and at the University of Valladolid Opera School in Spain, where he works as a répétiteur.

His work also includes broadcasts on BBC Radio 3 and ITV television.

Commenting on Matthew's forthcoming performance, Concerts in the West's founder and director Catherine Maddocks (formerly Hodgson) said: "I am delighted to be welcoming Matthew Drinkwater to launch the new 2017 Concerts in the West season. This is our 12th concert tour series and I am extremely proud that we are going just as strong as when we first started. It gives me enormous pleasure to continue to introduce local audiences to young musicians of the calibre of Matthew. Our performers offer an opportunity for people in the West Country to sample the sort of music you would normally only be able to hear at venues such as the Wigmore Hall."

Matthew Drinkwater performs at Ilminster Arts Centre at the Meeting House on Friday, February 3rd at 8pm. Tickets are £15 (a pre-show supper is available for £14 at 7pm but must be pre-booked). To book or for more details visit www.themeetinghouse.org.uk or call 01460 55783.

Nick Page to headline Lyme Comedy Club

HEADLINER: Nick Page

LYME Comedy Club at the Marine Theatre returns this Friday with another stellar line-up.

The Club showcases the very best in live stand-up, with four comedians with local and national names, featuring a host of circuit regulars and the stars of tomorrow...

MC for the evening is Cerys Nelmes. Cerys has been performing comedy since February 2011, performing her first gig at the Leicester Comedy Festival. She followed this up in quick succession by getting through to the semi-finals of So You Think You're Funny 2011 on her seventh gig.

Cerys is based in the West Country and is now an established act on the comedy circuit working all over the UK. She performs 20/30 minute sets and is fast becoming one of the best female MCs in the UK.

The show's headliner is 'the fastest moving man in comedy' Nick page, who went from his first open mic appearance to professional status in six months, and has continued to grow his act at the same pace. Stylistically he is the laconic lovechild of Clarkson and Clary, with material drawing on experiences as a bouncer, car dealer and estate agent. Page is at his best when in story telling mode, pulling the audience into the world of his exaggerated past and imaginary future. Now regularly performing at venues throughout the country, including compeering residencies at various 'Kill For A Seat' clubs. Recently filmed performing his own material for a BBC Choice/Steve Coogan collaboration, and with a five week series on BBC 2 due for broadcast in the Autumn, Nick will also be on screen for his part in the BBC new comedy awards. In addition he is quite tall, some would say very tall, but this is probably hyperbole. His brother holds the record for throwing a Wellington boot (279 feet).

Support for the evening comes from David Arnold ("Slightly camp & delightfully tongue-in-cheek, you're sure to love him!" - Eminent Banter) and Brian & Krysstal.

Since meeting at The Edinburgh Festival in 2000, Brian & Krysstal have entertained and delighted all kinds of audiences at comedy clubs, cabaret nights, festivals, corporate and private functions in locations far and wide.

Regular fixtures at The Edinburgh Festival for eight years, the duo have worked all over the UK as well as Germany, South Africa, Gozo, Spain, Denmark, Ireland, Australia and of course... Peckham.

Brian is infamously grumpy and deadpan, while his assistant Krysstal is glamorous but ditzy. The combination is unique and very funny. Their timing is exquisite, their humour dry and sometimes bawdy.

Lyme Comedy Club takes place the Marine Theatre this Friday, January 27th at 8pm. Tickets are £11 (please note that a 10% booking fee applies online and via the TIC).

For more details visit www.marinetheatre.com or call 01297 442138.

A world of art

THE LATEST exhibition at Ilminster Arts Centre unites an exciting and diverse group of West Country artists. 'It's a Wonderful World' celebrates the beauty of the world we live in, be it the countryside and wildlife of the British Isles, the vivid colours of India, the subtle fascination of everyday materials or the extraordinary realms conjured by the human imagination.

This richly textured exhibition features wildlife photographs by 19 year old Oliver Hellowell. Oliver is a 'photographer with a difference' as he just happens to have Down's Syndrome. Born and bred in Somerset, Oliver brings a fresh and unique perspective to photography. In 2015 he published his first photography book, appeared live on the BBC's 'The One Show', and later in the same year won the National Diversity Award for UK Positive Role Model for Disability. Oliver has a natural eye for wildlife photography, and is particularly fascinated by water and by birds.

Joining Oliver's photographs of British wildlife will be a portfolio of colourful travel reportage by photo journalist Bernard Ringrose.

Bernard specialises in images of India, and having travelled throughout the subcontinent has collated a vibrant collection of images reflecting many aspects of Indian life.

The show will also feature surrealist oil paintings by Dorset-based artist Matthew Dennett, landscapes by Valerie Duckworth, and landscapes and still life in acrylics and watercolour by Louise Melikoff, whose work reflects her love of colour and is often semi-abstract in style. Award-winning Ilminster-based textile artist k3n will display her latest textile compositions, from a series called Windfalls and Ploughshares, themed around rust, recycled fabrics and silk and eco-dyeing techniques. Taking the show into three dimensions will be new work by Rachel Hartland, a Fine Art graduate from Plymouth University, whose continually evolving work combines photography, found objects, patination, collage and 3D.

The exhibition runs until Saturday, February 11th. Open Monday to Friday, 9.30am-4.30pm, and Saturdays 9.30am-2.30pm. Admission is free.

Masakatsu Aikido

AIKIDO(合気道) is a Japanese martial art which is performed by blending with the motion of the attacker and redirecting the force of the attack rather than opposing it head-on. This requires very little physical strength and is in following with the ancient art of ju-jitsu.

Here at Masakatsu we are affiliated to Makoto, who in turn are members of the British Aikido Board (BAB). The BAB is the national governing body recognised by the British Government for Aikido in the UK.

There is opportunity to progress in Aikido using the system of testing and ranking commonly called grades or belts. The criteria for grading is the execution of specific techniques and consideration will be given to the number of training hours, a person's commitment to the club and their understanding of Aikido. We recommend students attend class regularly in order to gain the maximum benefit but we also recognise the pressures of the modern world and the fact that everyone progresses at their own pace.

We welcome all ages and abilities - the first four lessons are free.

At Masakatsu we have always maintained a friendly, fun environment where people can learn and train in the traditional arts of tai-jitsu and buki-jitsu, under the philosophical banner of Aikido.

Everyone is welcome, all ages – come along and meet us, we'd be delighted to see you.

Mondays - Exmouth, from 7.15pm-9.15pm
Thursdays - Escot from 7pm-9pm

Tragic masterpiece Il Trovatore to screen live at The Beehive

ACT's fresh take on traditional panto

AXMOUTH Childrens Theatre are proud to present their new Musical Pantomime which will take place in Axmouth Village Hall on Friday, February 3rd at 7pm and on Saturday, February 4th at 3pm and 7pm. Tickets are just £5 for Adults and £2 for U14. Box Office is 01297 23847.

The play called 'Cinderella and that Rocker Fella' is a loose take on the traditional Cinderella story with a few twists and turns as you would expect along the way. Written by Malcolm Henty the story revolves around Prince Elvis (Elsa Wood) who is in Axmania to do a show and look for a bride so as to become the King of rock n roll but along with his sidekick Little Richard (Luca Flint) they encounter some unexpected problems. Of course there are the customary Ugly Sisters who are brilliantly portrayed by Caitlin Tooze and Lilley Smitham and their mother the Baroness played in style by newcomer Violet Bullen who does her best to keep them in order. The sisters are also plagued by the Barons (Will Sykes) servants the Jedward brothers Euan Hartnell and Brandon Jaycock.

The roles of the downtrodden Cinderella and her life-long companion are played by Imogen Oldfield and Kieran Jaycock with the Fairy Godmother (Ellie Sykes) and her two pixies Isabelle Hilton and Nieve Hartnell keeping an eye over proceedings. But what happens you will have to see for yourselves.

There are also some cameo appearances by ex-members of the group which add to the fun and keep things moving along.

This promises to be a fun night out for all the family and one not to be missed. Full details are on the website www.axmouthchildrenstheatre.org.com

ON THE SHOWBIZ BEAT

Space ships over jazz hands? You better believe it

I'VE spent the past week fully immersed in pantomime and I have absolutely loved it. I'd forgotten how much fun it is to take part in a good old traditional amdram production and I've missed the camaraderie.

Now, I'm not going to claim it was my biggest stage triumph and not for the first time, I fear my wig got more applause than my performance, but nonetheless the pantomime in Axminster was a great success.

Being in the southwest all week has hampered my ability to review the big London shows, but as this is a quiet time in terms of theatrical premieres, I haven't missed out on anything too exciting.

I did, however manage to do a few phone interviews (or phoners as us showbiz types call them) with some minor celebrities from my Lyme Regis base.

I had a lovely chat to Jeremy Irvine, who many will remember as the star of the film adaptation of Michael Morpurgo's War Horse. My teenage daughter was very jealous of my conversation with the heartthrob, who is currently starring alongside Hollywood legend Ed Harris in a very dark play called Buried Child in London.

Jeremy was a frequent visitor to Devon as a child and since filming the iconic movie in the area, speaks with real passion about its beauty.

I'll have to admit that I wasn't familiar with the other two famous faces I spoke to this week, the first of which was Matt Monro Jr. It's nice to occasionally be too young to remember things and although after some research I realised I did know some of his father's work, I spent much of the interview relying on my well honed blagging technique.

I also discussed a new album with a rising star of the pop world called Harriet. I agreed to talk to the singer because her management company also handles Kylie Minogue, so I'm hoping they might give me the opportunity to talk to the Princess of Pop in the future.

To combat my theatrical dry spell I moseyed down to the cinema in Sidmouth to check out the film musical everyone seems to be talking about called La La Land.

Critics have applauded the movie almost universally but I was bitterly disappointed by it and found large chunks of the action cringingly uncomfortable to watch.

I was sad to have wasted a cinema trip and so the next day went to the Plaza in Dorchester to see the latest Star Wars episode and was much more enthralled. I never thought a day would come when I would prefer space ships and battles to jazz hands and tapping, but I guess it illustrates the point that you can never assume you are going to like a particular show or film, just because critics say you should.

Next week I'll be back to the bright lights of the city to see a musical version of Death Takes a Holiday (with a last minute cast change, which always ups the ante) and a new show called Dirty Great Love Story.

I'll then finish off the week by scrutinising the Membury Merrymakers annual pantomime. I loved last year's offering, so I'm really looking forward to popping along to the village hall for another fun filled evening out.

Terry New Denture Clinic

Dentures from the comfort of your home

TERRY New's Denture Clinic offers a service that few can compete with. Terry has been in the denture business for more than 30 years, and got introduced to the business by a relative who was a technician as well.

He visits a lot of homes, and is one of the few practices in the country who is legally qualified to make dentures without the involvement of a dentist. He can make dentures straight to the public, which saves a lot of time and hassle.

"I do a lot of home visits, and meet a lot of people and go to a lot of residential homes," Terry said. "I offer one on one service, at competitive prices."

Prices are extremely competitive even for those with a limited budget. Terry also offers a denture repair service, while customers wait.

"As I work from home, I do offer service at weekends, if I am around."

Based near Ashcot in Somerset, Terry can do home visits within a 25 mile radius of his home. For more information call 01458 210039 or cut out and keep this advertisement for future reference.

Further evolution for the 2017 Mitsubishi Outlander

THE MITSUBISHI Outlander PHEV is the UK's best-selling Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicle. At its introduction in 2014 it effectively created the ultra-low emission vehicle segment, notching up 10,000 sales in the UK within the first ten months and amassing a total sales figure of 26,600 by the end of 2016. The vehicle is derived from the third generation of the Mitsubishi Outlander (which pioneered the 'cross-over' vehicle design concept with the Mitsubishi Airtrek in 2001 and has sold 1.5 million units globally since launch) but was developed from the ground up to be driven by either an internal combustion engine or hybrid technology and as a result there are no compromises in terms of packaging, practicality or driving dynamics.

The Mitsubishi Outlander PHEV offers the best pure EV range of any of its competitors, has the lowest emissions of any all-wheel drive vehicle (and remains amongst the lowest-emitting vehicle of its plug-in hybrid competitors) and is the only AWD vehicle to utilise electric power to drive both front and rear wheels for superior traction both on and off the road. It is also the only plug-in hybrid to offer rapid charging (up to 80% in approximately 25 minutes) and adjustable regenerative braking, which is controlled via the steering wheel paddles to further enhance the driving experience.

Extensively revised in 2016, the Mitsubishi Outlander PHEV vehicle continues to take the automotive world by storm and now the new Outlander PHEV has arrived, representing another evolution in technology, safety and dynamic performance. The Mitsubishi Outlander PHEV is in showrooms now with prices starting from £34,749 (excluding the £2,500 Plug-in Car Grant)

For 2017 Mitsubishi introduces a new EV Priority Mode across all variants. The new EV switch is located below the 4WD button and once activated, it allows the driver to operate the vehicle in EV mode without the engine starting, provided there is sufficient charge in the batteries. An electronic parking brake is also new to the 2017 Outlander PHEV, as well as the brake auto hold button function which, when activated, holds the vehicle in traffic or on an incline the same way a handbrake would, allowing the driver to release the footbrake.

Range Rover Sport SVR:

Gripping acceleration whatever the terrain

COME rain or shine, grass or gravel, snow or sand, the Range Rover Sport SVR delivers devastating pace.

Merging legendary all-terrain capability with 550HP V8 power and advanced traction technology provides Land Rover's fastest vehicle with unique real world performance.

Since going on sale in February 2015, the Range Rover Sport SVR has showcased the abilities of Jaguar Land Rover Special Vehicle Operations, with just shy of 1000 being delivered to customers in the UK. Many will have been attracted by the 0-60mph time of only 4.5 seconds, but the official figure only scratches the surface of the Range Rover Sport's capability...

When the perfect traction offered by clean, dry Tarmac isn't available, most sports cars immediately suffer from a lack of grip, stability and performance. But no sports car has the benefit of Land Rover's legendary all-terrain know-how.

In this unique test, the Range Rover Sport SVR completes the 0-100km/h sprint on standard fit Michelin 275/45 R21 All Season Tyres on everything from tarmac and grass to snow and sand, using Land Rover's innovative Terrain Response 2 technology.

The intelligent system automatically selects the appropriate driving mode to suit traction conditions including: General Driving, Dynamic, Grass/Gravel/Snow, Mud and Ruts, Sand, and Rock Crawl. The driver can also use a simple rotary controller on the centre console to choose a specific mode.

The times recorded are a testament to the Range Rover Sport's inherent capability. On a notoriously slippery wet grass surface, the 0-100km/h time increased by only 0.8 seconds, while even on Sand the benchmark sprint took only 5.5 seconds.

TOTNES & DARTINGTON 2 AXMINSTER TOWN 3
A DOUBLE from Jon Hurford helped Axminster Town come from behind twice to record a gutsy away win and move back up to fourth spot in the table.

The hosts took the lead in the 23rd minute when Myles Chalcraft tapped in from three yards after Ax keeper Scott Wells-Burr had parried Alex Harding's shot.

But the Tigers leveled for the first time when Harford charged down home keeper Dan Wood's attempted clearance and the ball rebounded into the net.

But the Tots regained the lead seconds before the interval when debutant Ryan Beattie, a recent capture from Liverton, headed home.

Axminster had the better of the second half from the first whistle and equalised in the 47th minute through Liam Cleal who capitalised on a defensive mix-up.

The winner came on the hour as Hurford moved to the top of the Tigers' goalscoring chart with a neat finish from the edge of the box to seal the team's fourth win on the spin.

Axminster are on the road again next Saturday when they aim to knock the Railwaymen of Stoke Gabriel off their tracks.

MACRON DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE

Match reports

BEER ALBION 0 OKEHAMPTON ARGYLE 0

Premier Division

BEER Albion and Okehampton Argyle shared the spoils in a hard-fought goalless draw at the Furzebrake on Saturday writes Richard Honnor.

After a quiet opening there was a controversial incident on 12 minutes when the Okehampton left winger was brought down in the Beer penalty area. Initially referee Brandon Hawkins awarded a penalty but after consulting the linesmen the Argyle man was adjudged offside before being fouled.

The Okies had started well and the Fishermen had another lucky escape on 19 minutes when Sam Phillips headed a volley off his goal line following a corner.

Beer eventually settled and missed a great opportunity on 21 minutes when an unmarked Jacob Clode, headed Josh Moughton's free kick straight at the Okehampton keeper Geering from five yards out.

The Fishermen were looking solid and organised in defence with centre backs Andrew Foster and Joe Adkin dominant, and young full backs Moughton and Jack Prior improving with every game.

Simon Smith was desperately unlucky not to break the deadlock on 41 minutes when his fierce 30-yarder struck the underside of the crossbar.

Beer's best move of the half came a few minutes later Clode shot wide after a slick five-man passing move.

But it was the visitors who went close early in the second half when a clear chance was sliced wide from close range and then on 53 minutes winger Leahy cut in from the left and rattled the Beer crossbar with a 25 yarder.

Then it was the Fishermen's turn as Smith capitalised on a defensive mix-up but his 18-yard volley was brilliantly saved by Geering.

On the hour mark the visitors were controversially awarded a penalty when Foster was adjudged to have brought his man down after appearing to play the ball. But keeper Mark Rooke anticipated the penalty correctly and scrambled the ball around the post to keep the scores level.

Okehampton spurned another chance on 78 minutes when Piper blasted high over the bar from close range. Four minutes later Rooke again saved his side with a great point-blank stop.

In a last throw of the dice manager Richard Walker brought himself on and almost nicked the winner after turning the Okie centre back but his shot curled agonisingly wide.

Man-of-the-Match was awarded by sponsors Bay View Guest House to Beer's centre back Joe Adkin.

Next Saturday Beer Reserves are at home to Whipton & Pinhoe. Kick off at the Furzebrake is 2.15pm and the match sponsor is The Dolphin Hotel.

MILLWEY RISE 4 AWILSCOMBE UTD 1

Division Five

MILLWEY dominated most of the play in a goal less first half but it was Awilscombe who came closest when they hit the bar with a minute left before the interval writes Dick Sturch.

The hosts eventually opened the scoring on the hour with a well-taken penalty by Shane Featherstone.

A few minutes later Nathan Wormsley lashed the ball home from outside the box, after an astute pass from Sam Turner, to score the second.

A third quickly followed when substitute Nick Land latched onto an excellent assist, again supplied by Turner.

Zak Meaker completed Millwey's scoring before Awilscombe eventually got on the score sheet in the final minute from a great free kick by Dave Trenchard.

ROUND UP

STRUGGLING TIPTON ST JOHN outplayed and stunned Division Two leaders CULLOMPTON RANGERS 3-0 and are hoping to complete the double when the pair meet again on Saturday. Tipton, who were second from bottom just a week ago, are now mid-table and on cloud nine after goals from Johnny Heavey, Sam Baker and Adam Connert.

Rangers' defeat was a big bonus for second placed LAPFORD who were 4-0 winners at home to NEWTOWN RES and are now just a point behind. Goals were shared between Josh Phillips, Harry Leach, Mark Tucker and Harry Tickner.

AXMOUTH UNITED returned to winning ways accounting for DAWLISH UNITED 2-0, both goals from Matt Ellis, while WOODBURY had a field day at home to BUDLEIGH SALTERTON winning 9-0 with Micheal Simpson and Ryan Hill scoring doubles. Singles came from Danny Williams, Tim Whiteoak, Andrew Bennett, Brett Gloyn and Dave Evans.

LYME REGIS RES made it into the semi-finals of the Football Express Cup thanks to a 4-2 win against the cup holders WHIPTON & PINHOE. Declan Ellis scored all four including a penalty for the West Dorset club including an 87th minute equaliser to force extra time where the hosts looked far stronger.

Premier leaders HONITON TOWN enjoyed their short trip up the road at neighbouring UPOTTERY where they won the first ever Premier duel between the pair 4-0. Two goal Joe Mulhall, Dan Broom and Tom Perryman netted for the Hippos.

NEWTOWN had a much tougher ask against their landlords NEWTON ST CYRES but squeezed home 2-1. Cory O'Donoghue and Matt Hesford scored for Newtown.

HEAVITREE UNITED and TOPSHAM TOWN shared a cracking 2-2 draw with Thomas Taylor getting both home goals including a penalty. Jesse Howe and a 90th minute equaliser from Jordan Bastin earned Topsham their point.

HATHERLEIGH TOWN and FENITON shared six goals the home tally coming from Ross Glover, Greg Mitchell and an own goal. Fennys reply was from John Phillips, Lewis Ede and a first ever Premier strike by Mark Harris.

Bottom of the table BOW AAC and EXMOUTH AMATEURS battled out a goalless draw.

Despite playing the second half a man short, Division One champions-elect CRONIES FC put paid to title rivals LYME REGIS 2-0 at Topsham. The Dorset side were hoping to become just the second team ever to defeat Cronies in a league game, but goals in each half by Billy Rouse and Liam Carey were enough for the Exeter team.

Rouse was shown a straight red card by referee Ash Horn in the 43rd minute after striking out at Ben Turner who was making his debut for the Seasideers after signing from Axminster Town.

EXMOUTH TOWN won 5-2 at ALPHINGTON to maintain their hopes of a top three slot, and the same scoreline gave EXETER UNIVERSITY victory over BICKLEIGH, George Bratt (3) and Sam Sainsbury (2) scoring.

EAST BUDLEIGH won their penultimate Division Three game against leaders BAMPTON 3-1 all three goals coming in the last fifteen minutes. The ponies missed chance after chance after they led with a Jack Isaacs penalty.

The eye-popping result was at HONITON TOWN where NEWTON POPPLEFORD racked up a 7-2 victory with Ollie Mephram and Luke Phillips notching the well beaten Hippos' consolations.

It finished goalless between OTTERTON and OTTERY ST MARY, while PINHOE won 3-2 at MORCHARD BISHOP whose Ryan Gibson Heard had both home goals.

No let up for Division Five leaders ROYAL OAK as they blew FENITON away 7-0. Closest rivals CREDITON UNITED had a much harder task at STARCROSS GENERALS but edged home 5-3, and WINCH-ESTER did enough to get the better of BEER ALBION 5-2.

ILMINSTER TOWN also kept up the pressure but their 3-2 win at BICKLEIGH but they had to come from behind to clinch the win with goals from Warren Gabbidon, substitute Igor Costa and David Pereira while 16-year-old midfielder Flavio Ribeiro caught the eye.

UPOTTERY kept top spot in Division Eight after their 3-0 win at QUEENS HEAD with goals from Brad Morris (2) and Matt Frost. Man of the Match award was shared between defender Adam Retter and Morris.

AXMINSTER stay on their heels following a 2-0 win at home to BRADNINCH thanks to goals from Sam Dibling and Dan Turner.

nordic walking have a go!

Fancy trying something new?

IF YOU'VE never tried Nordic walking, Pauline Beare and her team from 'On the go Nordic Walking' are offering you the chance to have a go for free.

It's a bit like walking with trekking poles but instead of putting the poles behind you, you plant them behind you and propel your body forward.

Pauline was founder of Women's Running Network helping thousands of women get active and achieve amazing personal goals.

Since having had two knee replacements Pauline has taken up Nordic Walking and trained to be an instructor to pass on her enthusiasm and passion to a new audience.

Pauline is also a qualified level two athletics coach and cycle leader with British Cycling so her passion for helping others get active is clear to see.

Developed in Scandinavia in the 1950s, Nordic Walking works the upper part of the body as well as the legs and is great for improving cardiovascular fitness.

It uses 90 per cent of the bodies muscles, burns 20-40 per cent more calories than ordinary walking which can be effective for effective weight loss programmes.

It is recommended by fitness experts and health professionals because it is an effective all-over body workout, is suitable for all levels of fitness and has low impact on knees and joints. It is also great for improving posture which in turn benefits neck, shoulders and back.

Getting started is easy and free taster days are available in various locations around Exeter and East Devon. It is easy to learn, sociable, fun and is 'Green' exercise.

Everyone is welcome to come along to the free taster sessions and have a go and find out the benefits of Nordic Walking.

For details visit www.onthegonordicwalking.co.uk and look for activities. Taster sessions last about 45 minutes and if you get the Nordic Walking buzz then you can sign up for a course of four weekly sessions for £25 (including pole hire and tuition).

Qualified instructors, licensed by Nordic Walking UK will ensure that you learn the correct techniques to gain maximum benefit.

Places are limited and must be booked in advance.

hockey chard

Early form clinches tight victory

Chard A 3 Minehead B 1
SE 2 Division

GOALS from Jason Goddard and Harvey Denning, and some inspired second half wing play from Kyle Wheaton earned Chard 2nd XI a hard fought victory against a Minehead squad clearly bolstered by the inclusion of several players from higher level within the club.

In an evenly contested first half, Chard created a greater number of clearer chances, particularly through attacks down their right flank although, as the half progressed, Murray Wheaton, on a rare outing for the team, grew in confidence and stature to link up well on the left with Denning and James Spurdle.

Minehead's main attacking threat came from the small number of 16-yard hits that evaded interception and found their way through to a forward.

Richard Green made a couple of important saves while Arthur Critchley stood out in the back four for some well timed tackles and runs to pick off Minehead passes.

The second half breakthrough for Chard came courtesy of quick thinking by right back Chris Knight.

Having had one free hit charged down, he took another with an accurate pass across field to find Denning in space. His instinctive shot found Goddard who applied a deft touch to ensure the ball hit the back of the net.

Within the next few minutes Chard earned themselves a couple of short corners and from one of these Spurdle slipped a pass at the top of the D to Denning who powered a shot inside the near post.

The two-goal lead put Chard in total control for the middle part of the second half.

Kyle Wheaton ran the Minehead defence ragged with surging runs down the right wing, his crosses creating further chances to increase the lead and the team as a whole played some slick, swift passing hockey with good movement of the ball.

But, as has so often been found, a two-goal lead is the most dangerous. With eight minutes left the visitors rallied and pulled a goal back after Green in goal had been a spectator for much of the half.

Chard's crisp passing deserted them as Minehead surged forward seeking the equaliser.

It was backs to the wall stuff, but Chard held out for the last few anxious minutes to record a win their performance earlier in the match justified.

The Chard team wished to thanks to umpires: Hannah McGowen and Jim Sainsbury and match sponsor Martins of Chard: Chard; R Green, C Knight, A Critchley, P Pratt, S Mahoney, J Goddard, N Parkinson, M Wheaton, J Spurdle (Capt), M Lane, H Denning, K Wheaton, T Goss.
